OUR EXPERIENCE

As a result of our knowledge and experience, we help clients maximize opportunities, minimize risks and compete and win in the government contracting marketplace.

Bid Protests and Procurement Litigation: Unfortunately, sometimes contractors find themselves in adversarial proceedings. We have handled hundreds of bid protests worth many billions of dollars in every protest forum available. And we have tried multiple Contract Disputes Act cases in various forums and even handled the appeals. Where no other option exists, we have also challenged government action under the Administrative Procedures Act. Our team has been involved in some of the most significant, precedential cases in government contracting. Our success speaks for itself.

Transactions, Mergers, and Acquisitions: Contractors, private equity firms, and investment bankers nationwide rely on our team to close their deals. We close hundreds of millions of dollars in acquisitions annually, representing buyers, sellers, lenders, and ESOP trustees. Not all transactions involve the acquisition of a company; some are contract specific. We help our clients structure novation agreements as well.

Compliance and Audit Support: We help our clients field and address issues that pop up during acquisition, performance, and contract closeout. We are fluent in CAS and Part 31 and able to support you during any DCAA or other audits.

Teaming Agreements, Joint Ventures, and Subcontracts: We recognize that the whole is sometimes greater than the sum of the parts. We help contractors forge partnerships to pursue contracting opportunities through teaming agreements and joint ventures and to put subcontracts in place after award.

False Claims, Internal Investigations, Suspension, and Debarment: Few things are more intimidating than staring down government allegations of wrongdoing. We are our clients' first call when that happens. We conduct internal investigations (before and after the allegations arise) and litigate the charges if necessary. We have handled False Claims Act litigation all over the country. And you will find our names on the opinions in some of the most significant responsibility, suspension, and debarment cases in recent history.

Third-Party Litigation: Contractors sometimes find themselves in court litigating prime-sub disputes, non-competition agreements, and employment decisions. Over the years, we have seen it all and have litigated virtually every type of controversy a contractor might face. We are bet-the-company litigators.

Niche Areas: We realize that there are other government contract lawyers, but few have experience with niche areas such as the Randolph Sheppard Act, Ability One, the Service Contract Act, Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, state and local contracting, government data rights, and contractor IP issues.

Government Relations and Regulatory Affairs: Sometimes, the best solution is not a legal one. Our government relations and regulatory affairs team has deep connections across state and local governments. We are able to help our clients identify, develop, and achieve political goals. We are also experienced in assisting clients in achieving success before regulatory boards.
