2018 Top-Performing Lobbying Firms

Behind the Data

Bloomberg Government looked at the 1,946 registered lobbying firms that filed Lobbying Disclosure Act reports with the Senate during 2018. Each firm had to meet or exceed a $1 million threshold in annual revenue and have at least two clients. They also had to exhibit growth in revenue and average revenue per client; high short- and long-term customer retention rates; and exceptional revenue per registered lobbyist.

Bloomberg Government evaluates law firms that have lobbying teams, which we call lobbying/law firms, using alternative criteria because of differences in their client base, operational structure and billing practices. Retention rates and revenue per lobbyist thresholds are lower to reflect those differences.

Detailed analysis of fourth-quarter and full-year activity for every registered lobbying firm and lobbying client is currently available on Bloomberg Government.

Women in Lobbying

Women are underrepresented in lobbying, including among the top-performing firms.

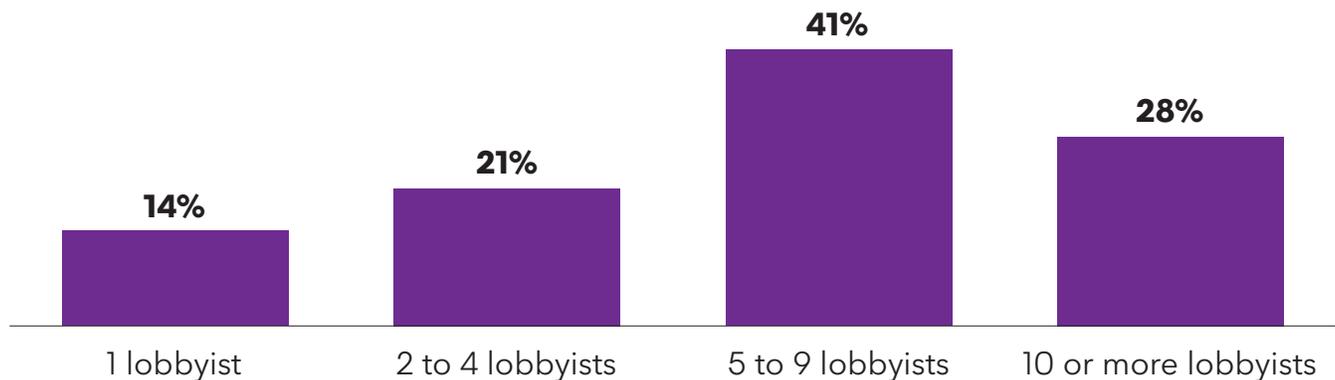

At the 59 top-performing lobbying firms and honorable mentions of 2018, 145 female lobbyists represented only 29 percent of the 498 lobbyists listed in quarterly filings.

But not all top-performing firms are equal. Midsize firms that employ five to nine registered lobbyists have an above-average gender ratio, while smaller firms scored worse.

The disparity is similar among all lobbying firms that disclosed $1 million or more in lobbying revenue, regardless of performance. Within those major shops, women make up only 31 percent of registered lobbyists.

Women-Led Firms

Among the top performers are the three largest women-owned firms by revenue - Invariant LLC, Tarplin Downs & Young LLC, and Kontoupes Denham Carr & Reid LLC.

Six other majority-female lobbying firms were among the top performers and honorable mentions, including all-female lobbying firms such as Nathanson & Hauck and TwinLogic Strategies LLP.

In comparison, there are 20 all-male lobbying firms, all listing four or fewer lobbyists.
